Most of courses are taught in Korean, but a variety of courses are offered in English. The list of courses taught in English will be available one or two months prior to each semester. If students would like to learn Korean Language, they could participate in the Korean Language Program during the semester with 30% discounted price.

Credit Transfer

All courses at PKNU are credit-bearing and are recognized by most universities and institutions.

However, it is better that students consult academic officials at their home universities about credit transfer prior to the program begins. It is students' responsibility to consult properly, and it is their home university's authority to decide on the credit transfer.

All exchange students are automatically assigned to a room (shared) at on-campus dormitories. The dormitory fee for one semester is around KRW 2,000,000 which includes three meals per day at the cafeteria. Students can find an accommodation outside the campus if they want.

National Health Insurance

All exchange students are required to enroll Korean National Health Insurance. They will be automatically enrolled on the same day of alien registration after they arrive in Korea. They have to pay about KRW 100,000 per month. More detailed information will be provided to the accepted exchange students. Students staying in Korea for less than six months are not covered by Korean National Health Insurance. Therefore, they must obtain either international student or traveler insurance before departing for Korea to cover their entire stay. The university will not be responsible for any issues arising from insurance claims if students fail to secure proper coverage.

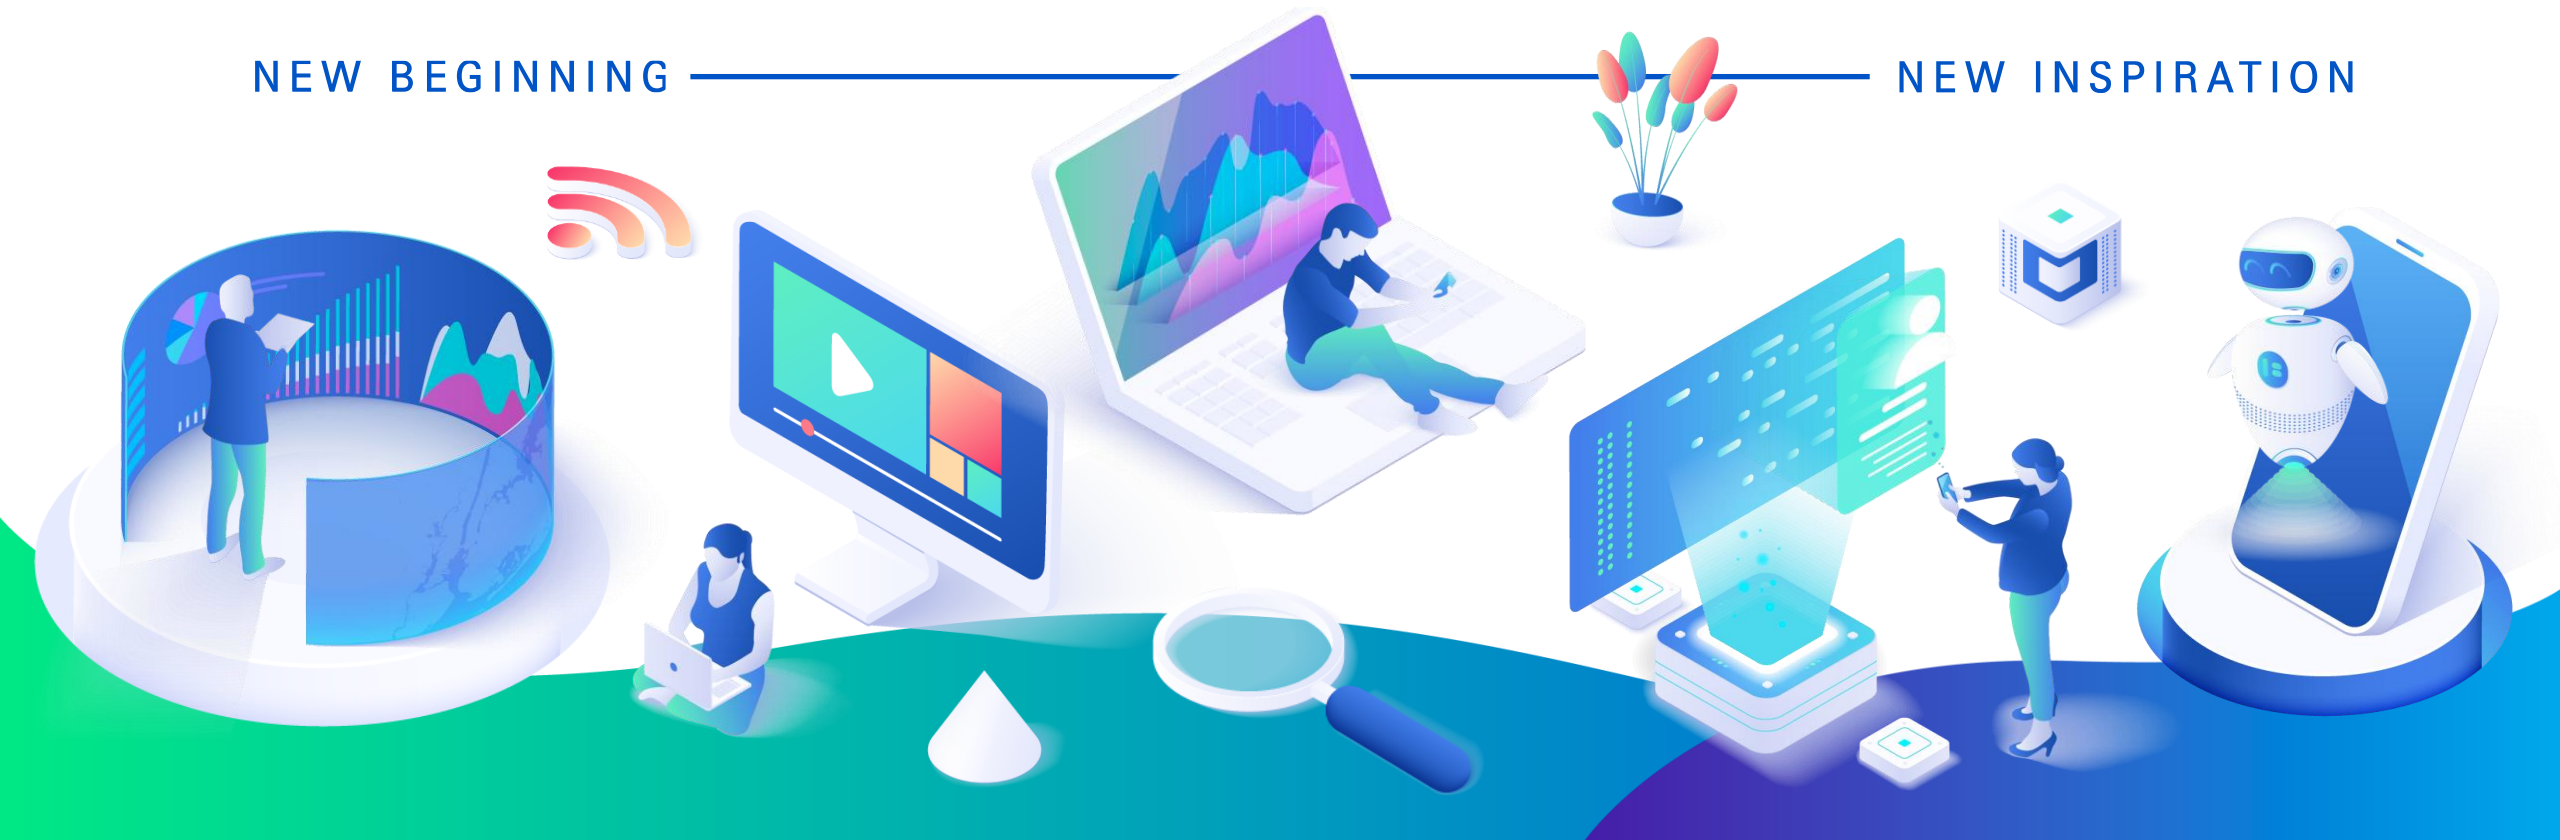

PKNU Student Buddy Program

PKNU student buddy will help exchange students adjust to a new life at PKNU. The Buddy program application will be accepted at an exchange student orientation a few days before the start of the semester, after the students arrive in Korea.
